TALKED FOR BETTER ROADS

Elizabethtown Editor Enlightens an Appreciative Audience.

OTHER SPEAKERS LATE.

The Good Roads Meeting
Was Not a Very Great Success.

The inclement weather Saturday seriously interfered with the good roads meeting and only a small crowd was in town. To add to the handicaps under which the meeting was held, the train with most of the speakers was three hours late and did not arrive until too late to hold the meeting of the Good Roads committee.

Mr. Harry A. Sommers, of Elizabethtown, who came in the night before, was the only speaker at the meeting held at 1:30 o'clock. Mr. Chas. E. Barker presided and introduced Mr.
Sommers, who delivered an able and interesting address covering all phases of the good roads movement.
He explained first that the measure was not a political move, but one in which all persons are interested.
He pointed out in a straightforward manner the great benefits which such a change in the Constitution as this which will permit of State aid to the counties in building roads will be. He showed that it was not one county shouldering a debt for the purpose of building roads in another county, but was merely the granting of the right for each county to vote an increased tax upon itself.

Hestated that now only about one-third of the counties in Kentucky were self-supporting and that if this amendment was made it would make the other two-thirds self-sustaining.

He gave many figures in support of the argument that good roads improve a community in every way, financially by increasing the value of its lands, morally by giving the people a broader and better understanding of matters, intellectually by permitting freer and easier intercourse and access to schools and in every other way.

While the meeting was not so largely attended as has been hoped, it will have a most beneficial effect in getting the question before the people in the right light and will have the result of a greatly increased vote in favor of the amendment on November 2.

Mr. Sommers, who is editor of the Elizabethtown News, is an easy and graceful speaker and a man of wide information and extensive travel at home and abroad. His speech, originally intended for a short talk of 20 minutes, was extended into an address of an hour, when it was found that he would be the only out-of town speaker.

The fire originated from a flue and the building, together with much of its contents, was reduced to ashes in a few minutes. The sparks, formed by a strong wind, set afire the dwelling and a barn belonging to Cato Smith, col., and some other buildings near by, but the latter were extinguished with very little loss. An alarm was turned in from the eastern part of the town and the department made a quick run to the city limits, only to find the fire fully half a mile in the country. The loss is several hundred dollars.
